Need stocking stuffers?

Try your commissary for discounted holiday gift items

If you're planning several trips to the commissary over the next couple weeks to shop for holiday meals, here's a pro-tip: While there you can check one more thing off your holiday "to-do" list – shopping for stocking stuffers, a task typically saved for the last-minute rush.

Here are some ideas:

- Commissary gift cards
- International candies and chocolates
- Body wash or scrub
- Scented candles
- Flavored syrup for coffee

For the other ideas, see our news release.

Give the gift of groceries

Commissary gift cards help holidays shine brighter

The holidays are a time of celebration, especially for those things and people we are thankful for.

Considering the great sacrifice our military members and their families make on behalf of the rest of us, they are some of the most deserving of our gratitude, said Tracie Russ, the Defense Commissary Agency's sales director.

Commissary gift cards are a thoughtful way to show your gratitude whether honoring military families or giving a gift of groceries to single service members in the barracks. Anyone, even those not military affiliated, can purchase commissary gift cards, available in denominations of $25 and $50, in stateside stores or online.

Commissary patrons are also reminded that MyCommissary is the place to manage their online shopping experience.

Winter holidays are here

Don't overlook oatmeal

Oatmeal has huge potential. You can easily add flavor while making it more nutritionally dense. It's as simple as adding fruit and nuts. This dietitian approved recipe is called "On the Go Instant Oatmeal," and it's perfect for staying healthy during the winter holiday rush.
